The Surprising Benefits of a Global Footprint

Would you be surprised to learn that providing local support on a global scale is not only beneficial from the customers' point of view but also results in many positive outcomes for the service provider? In this April edition of Orbis Systems' newsletter, we dig deeper into the many benefits of global presence!

Much appreciated by customers and currently reaching all the way from Europe to Asia-Pacific and the Americas, Orbis Systems' global footprint is one of the key elements of the company's business philosophy. As CEO Eero Rossi puts it: “Whenever a customer has opened a production or R&D site somewhere, we have followed them, which has enabled very close relationships. According to customer feedback our flexibility is highly valued for its many benefits and a clear differentiator compared to some other vendors.”
